

Resident Profile: Meet the Hursts

For Don and Muff Hurst, choosing a retirement community was not a decision they took lightly. With roots in Elkton, Maryland, they wanted to remain nearby, close to friends and the lifestyle they enjoyed. More importantly, they knew they wanted to be in a community with great Assisted Living and skilled nursing programs. "That's the bottom line," said Don. "We may never get there and hope we don't. But if it happens, we want to be in a good place." Muff, a retired nurse, took one look at Jenner's Pond and knew that this was a quality program.

They were also taken by the culture of Jenner's Pond. "It was accepting, friendly, and made us comfortable right away," said Don, a retired United Methodist pastor. In fact, as an avid motorcyclist, Don has found that many of the residents have taken an interest in learning more about his hobbies, which also include sailing to exotic destinations.

"We've been very happy here," said Muff, who enjoys more time catching up on her reading and spending time with the Jenner's Pond knitting and crocheting group. That is, when she's not cruising with Don or donating her time to the hospital in Elkton volunteering in the breast health center.
